Exploring Engineering: A Summer STEAM Experience

UVA School of Engineering and Applied Science
July 22 – 26, 2019

Exploring Engineering was a one-week summer program for middle school students (in grades 6 and 7 this spring/ rising 7th and 8th graders this summer) in the Charlottesville and Albemarle Public Schools. This free program included hands-on team-based activities in several areas of engineering and design (Harness the Wind = alternative energy resources, Save the Penguins = heat transfer, and Trash Sliders = sustainability and upcycling) and art (architecture, drawing, and model making). - photos are from the July 22 kick-off
